

I am not a Kerry supporter, but this craven attempt (by obscenely wealthy interests sympathetic to an incumbent administration) to slander a decorated war veteran goes beyond the bounds of decency and I will not stand for it, as a voter and as an American.

Sinclair Broadcasting's obviously political motivation behind airing slanderous comments/programming about a candidate is going to blow up in their faces regardless of what the FCC does about it. However, it would be nice if the agency DID ITS JOB for once and held this network accountable for breaking the law.

If the FCC rolls over on this one, heads are going to roll come next January.

Sincerely,

Michael Nunn
